introducing a unique real estate WPP solution.

In the current Economic climate, all the pressures seem to be placed on real estate professionals to save costs. It no doubt seems like yesterday when it was all about expansion and spend, now it's about saving on real estate and cutting right back on budgets... the business case for implementing your projects has to be more robust than ever.

There are many ways Property professionals like you, can save your organization money. The prospect of implementing aggressive cost cutting measures can seem pretty daunting, especially when you have deadlines to achieve... the good news is, there are smart ways to do this that will:

- a) Deliver shareholder and stakeholder value
- b) Increase profitability
- c) Reduce costs
- d) Increase productivity and morale when your competitors are losing theirs!
- e) Deliver high probability LEED certification opportunities

Georgeson Workplace Performance has engineered a unique solution, developed from working with Global organizations to deliver results and empower you to do more to help you achieve your objectives. We have extensive experience in understanding exactly what your senior executive team need you and your department to achieve, and how they want you to achieve it! We want to help you and we can show you how to develop and deliver solutions that your Executive team will approve. We will also help your departments internal PR and visibility and will show you how flexible working and 'telecommuting' cannot be ignored and indeed will deliver competitive advantage at every level.

Why not visit us on Stand 206 to review our unique WPP solution?

And our BETA Architectural and Engineering Firm will be on stand to discuss Energy Assessment, where we have developed a plan to evaluate usage practices and aid our clients with the increasing cost of energy.

Call Nick Lyons or Doug Brant on 616 235 6220 today or come along to Stand 206 and say hello.

We look forward to meeting you in person.
